COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

(1) You are expected to read your assigned readings, participate in the computer labs, complete a computer assignment, and visit an agency (to be arranged by me).

Your textbook and readings marked with a single asterisk in each of the sessions are your required readings.

A computer laboratory experience in the use of personal computers for administrative and financial purposes will be conducted during the semester. Some software programs for budgeting, and spreadsheet analysis will be introduced. Learning how to read computer-based instructions will also be an essential part of computer experiences.

(2) You are to take mid-term and final exams, based on readings and discussions. Your mid-term exam will be a short essay test based on readings and discussions.

Your final exam will be composed of:

- A) A "long-essay" test (50%)
- B) Completion of the following assignment (50%): (This assignment will be submitted to me as a report in a typewritten form (double-spaced, APA format).

During the course of the semester, contact one social welfare agency. Set up an appointment with the appropriate people in the agency to learn about its objectives and record financial management processes (or systems). Then, write a report including:

- a. Agency's objectives; compliance with social work's ethics and values
- b. Major services and their outcomes; ethical and value foundations of these services; considerations of discrimination, economic deprivation, and oppression; consideration of diversity of clientele (diversity includes, but not is limited to, the people of color, women, gays and lesbians, as well as the aged and children as clients of services).
- c. What type of budget is used?
- d. Cost centers
- e. Costs of providing major services
- f. From what sources is money obtained and to what is it expended? Ethical, social and economic justice principles, and diversity considerations utilized in obtaining and spending funds

(3) You are to present individually a topic related to the outline of the course (outside of grant writing and fund raising). I will assign you the presentation topic through a random drawing. You are expected to prepare for the entire topic and answer all questions related to it by reading broadly on the topic. A written version of this presentation will be submitted to me in the next two days following the presentation (APA manual format, double spaced, with full references at the end of the paper). Issues of diversity, ethical and professional value orientations as well as the concerns for social and economic justice, and diversity are to be emphasized and discussed as they relate to your particular topic. Here, too, diversity of clients populations is to be defined as above.

(4) You are to do develop a fund raising document in groups with the help and consultation of selected agencies and their personnel during the course of the semester. This assignment is to culminate in a fund-raising/grant proposal to be submitted to an appropriate funding organization on behalf of the agency selected.

More details of this assignment will be given by the agency representatives.

Two sessions as well as the last hour of each class session will be spent on this assignment as you will have discussions and write the proposal in your own group. By the end of the semester, the proposal will be ready to be submitted to the designated funding source by your agency. A copy of the proposal will also be submitted to me (Funding source and agency requirements will determine the format of the document and style of writing). In addition to, and as an addendum to, the proposal, you as a group will submit a separate report to me regarding diversity (inclusive of the considerations of relevant diverse populations as mentioned above), and ethical dilemmas and value concerns. You are expected to discuss what major social and economic justice questions you encountered during your preparation of the proposal and how you resolved them with specific reference to social work ethics and values. You may also share this addendum with your agency.

Participation in all group efforts is mandatory to the fullest extent. If and when a member (or members) of a groups is (are) identified by the other members of that group as neglecting and/or not performing her/his/ their share of the work as defined by the group norms and/or agency personnel working with the group, she/he/they will be failing this assignment with a numeric grade of zero(0) to be included in the process of computing the overall course grade.

GRADING:

Your final grade is the weighted mean of the following and as such will be computed as follows:

Assignment No. 1	20%
Assignment No. 2	25%
Assignment No. 3	25%
Assignment No. 4	25%

Assignment 2 (report portion) and assignment 4 will be evaluated on the basis of their organization, clarity, internal consistency and flow of information. Assignments are due one week prior to the final session.

The grading scale to evaluate the assignments is given below:

Below 72.9	D
73-77.9	C
78-82.9	C+
83-87.9	B
88-93.9	B+
