This will ensure that you are properly registered for services.

Course Description

This course is a required foundation course. Examines the profound influences on and critical interfaces of client systems with the world in which we live. Incorporates local to international information about social, economic, and political trends and innovations, and about effects of social problems, injustice, and power on client systems and on social change and service delivery systems. The course pays special attention to the process of devolution and globalization and the influence of these economic and political forces on the distribution of resources. International comparative social patterns are analyzed to understand economic justice from a national and international perspective. The history of the social and political environment, both nationally and abroad, are considered to enhance students' understanding of how political decisions shape the social welfare arena in which we practice.

Course Rationale

The Social, Economic, and Political environment course provides a foundation for understanding the interconnectedness of various economic, social, and political theories and systems that influence oppression and social injustice, and the challenge of social workers to change oppressive social systems. Social work students, therefore, must understand and critically analyze local, national, and international interconnectedness of macro level social arrangements and how these arrangements may result in structural oppression, discrimination, and social injustice. Students require evidence-based knowledge in preparation for culturally competent practice in work with multicultural client systems, organizations, agencies, and communities.

Course Competencies

By the completion of this course, the students are expected to be able to demonstrate (through course activities, assignments, and/or exams):

1. Trace the history and trends of the economic and political system in the United States that affect how the U.S. welfare system is constructed. (Practice-F.1; Values/ethics-F. 1; Pops at-risk & SJ-F.2; Policy- F.1). (content: define the political economy and the relationship with social welfare; identify the historic trends in economic theory and the changes in political ideology over time (e.g. supply side economics and neo-liberal/conservative movements; utilize information technology to analyze economic and political trends).)
2. Describe the political process in the United States, and how power, and influence prevent or promote social and economic justice within and across multicultural populations. (Policy-F.7; Pops at-risk & SJ- F.2, F.3; Practice-F.8; Diversity-F6). (content: how interest group politics influence the political process; understanding the political system; global hegemony, first and third world economic issues and immigration; structural inequality; distributive justice).)
3. Use social and economic justice as a basis for analyzing the effects of social, economic, and political trends and the resultant interactions between individual, families, groups, organizations and communities. (Values/ethics-F.1; Pops at-risk & SJ-F.4, 5; Policy- F.1, F.7, CT/EBP- F.4). (content: the influence of values of the dominant culture of societal choices in economic and political systems and the profession; privilege; the differential effect on client systems, communities, and organizations of tax systems and benefits).)
4. Connect economic and political decisions to peoples' access to resources, locally, nationally, and internationally, and recognize the ethical dilemmas inherent in lacking resources. (Pops at-risk & SJ-F.3, F.4; Values/ethics-F.1, F.2, F.3, F.4).(content: tax system; economic, distributive justice; disparities in health and welfare; devolution of resources and services; corporate welfare; poverty gap and income/wealth inequality; use information technology to analyze access to resources).)
5. Analyze and compare national and international social, economic and political conditions using existing available statistics to identify differences in societies' access to resources.(CT/EBP-F.3; Pops at-risk & SJ-F.3; Policy-F.7; Research-F.1). (content: use existing national statistics to compare social welfare and access across states; use international comparative literature to assess differences across countries in social welfare policies and practices; use information technology to identify disparities in access to resources).)
6. Analyze client systems and the relationships of power among individuals, families, groups, organizations, communities and societies, using theories of empowerment, participatory change, conscientization, and social construction to understand the relationships of power and advantage in society, recognizing the role of social worker as learner and engaging client systems as experts of their own experience. (Pops at-risk & SJ-F.2, F.3). (content: theories of empowerment, social construction, popular education, and participatory change in the context of group/population membership; how groups attain powers).

Details of Assignment, quizzes & discussion boards

Blackboard Discussion Boards: There are five; each is worth 3 points. Grading for each is as follows:

- 0-1.0 point = inadequate participation & inadequate content in responses to discussion;
- 1.1-2.0 points = adequate participation & adequate content in responses to discussions;
- 2.1-3.0 points = adequate participation & adequate content in response to discussions ± evidence of critical analysis and critical thinking in responses to discussion;

*The resources for each Discussion Board are provided to each group through their Blackboard group site

Discussion Board #1: Discussing national & international economic & social justice issues, & human rights: UN international economic reports

Discussion Board #2: Analyzing & discussing local, national, & international health & social disparities, the poverty & structural inequality with information technology

Discussion Board #3: Critically analyzing & discussing the interactions of race, privilege, advantage & their influence on access to resources

Discussion Board #4: Analyzing and discussing national & international NGOs in social, economic empowerment & capacity building strategies to increase access to resources & basic human rights & learning from client systems as experts of their own experiences

Discussion Board #5: Recognizing and discussing the ethical dilemmas arising from restricted access to resources & devolving social policies & advocating for their resolution.

Paper: 35 points, of which 5 are for graduate quality of writing, & 30 are distributed as follows:

Step 1:

Identify & describe the demographics of a population of clients/client systems with which you are familiar (a "population of clients" from your work or placement)

Step 2:

Utilize information technology to acquire the local, state, and national demographics of that larger population in terms of the following, as appropriate: a) Prevalence (%s) and/or b) Incidence (#s)

#1_____ Create a summarized table of the statistics of the clients/client systems you identified in Step #1. (2 points)

#2_____ Create a summarized table of the local, state & national statistics you located in Step #2. (2 points)

#3_____ Analyze & compare the two tables; Discuss how are they the same? Different? In what specific ways? (5 points)

#4_____ Discuss each of the following:

a) _____ What social, economic, and political influences of the community/city in which this "population of clients" reside explain how they differ from their counterparts in the state and nation? (7 points)

b) _____ What elements/issues of social and economic justice—as substantiated in your analyses, statistics, and discussions above—are suggested? (7 points)

c) _____ How do your discussions above (#3, 4a, 4.b) reflect the historical trends of the political and economic system in the U.S.? (7 points)

**NOTE: Maximum 6 pages (double spaced), including the two tables.

**NOTE: Be sure to accurately cite the source(s) of the statistics you provide in Step #1 & Step #2 & list these in your Reference list & adhere to the grading policies of the course.

Quiz #1 is comprised of 20 multi-response items (1 point each) concerning concepts and terms for understanding social, economic, & political trends & theories, political processes, globalization, social & economic justice, poverty, disparities, privilege as noted in terms & concepts listed for each course session from the beginning of the semester to October 20, 2008.

Quiz #2 is comprised of 20 multi-response items (1 point each) concerning terms and concepts of the course since October 21, 2008 for understanding tax systems, interactions of dominant values & persons/groups/communities, economic/political decisions and access, national & international poverty, advantage, & hegemony, social, political and economic change strategies, human and civil rights.

Presentation of Discussion Board Groups' Critical Analysis of NGOs is an in-class presentation of each Discussion Board Group's analysis from Discussion Board #4). Each student can achieve 10 points for her/his presentation with his/her group; it is expected that each group will divide the following among its members for the presentation. It is expected that each group's presentation will include the following:

- 1) What type of social/economic/political change project is the NGO project? How is the NGO organized? How does it acquire funding?
- 2) What is the goal of the NGO? What population is the target of the NGO's project(s)?
- 3) What issue/problem(s) of third world economic, social and/or political issues does the project seek to change?
- 4) a) In what specific ways does the NGO empower or dis-empower or is hegemonic? b) How does, or does not, the NGO's project influence power relationships (e.g., between individuals, groups, communities, states and/or nations? c) To what extent does the NGO utilize learning from the perspective of the client systems/population that the NGO targets?
- 5) Would the project of each NGO be a professionally & ethically appropriate project for social workers to be employed and practice?
