Course Description

This is a required foundation course. The focus is on the application of social work knowledge, values, ethics, and skills to the practice setting. SW 542 is the first of a sequence of four field practicum courses in the MSSW curriculum. For the first –portion of the semester, students attend an intensive field seminar which includes content on safety, client interviewing skills, professional documentation, boundaries, ethics, and diversity. This segment of the seminar is intended to prepare students for their first field agency experience. During the second portion of the semester, students commence the agency experience and continue with a seminar. The focus of the seminar shifts to processing and integration of the field agency experience and academic coursework.

Foundation Field draws upon the content of all other foundation courses as the student uses the field agency experience to identify, apply, practice, and integrate generalist social work knowledge and skills. Through provision of client services students refine direct practice skills. In the field agency setting, students are also able to identify and integrate knowledge of social, economic, and political environments, social welfare policy, and develop advocacy skills to advance social justice for at-risk populations. This course enables students to develop a beginning awareness of issues of diversity and oppression in direct and indirect practice contexts and activities.

Course Rationale

Foundation Field is critical to the students' capacity to integrate the broad knowledge base required for effective generalist social work practice regardless of setting. The field practicum experience enables students to identify and respond to issues of social justice and diversity and use an ethical, ecological approach to solving real client problems. The foundation field courses lay the essential groundwork of generalist practice competencies preparing students to progress to concentration field experiences within specific areas of focus.

Seminar Course Outline

Course Requirements

Attendance at field seminar is required. If a student must miss a seminar session, s/he must contact the seminar instructor on his/her campus to arrange for completion of a make-up assignment.

Students are expected to arrive at seminar on time. Each session is packed with information and the time must be used efficiently and effectively. Students who arrive late delay and/or disrupt the schedule of activities.

Students are expected to treat the online sessions of seminar with as much care and diligence as face-to-face sessions. It is expected that students complete all assigned readings, discussion boards, worksheets, and case studies within the week they are assigned. While it is difficult to equate time spent competing online content with class time, efforts have been made to provide assignments and experiences that are comparable to in-class work.

Each student is expected to actively and fully engage in seminar discussions and activities. Students do not need laptops in seminar and are asked to turn them off at the beginning of class.

Each student is required to complete all regular and make-up assignments in order to receive credit for the seminar.

- Adequate completion of all written and discussion board assignments, with attention to content, clarity, depth of thought, and organization.

Students who fail to meet the requirements of Field Seminar will receive an Incomplete or No Credit grade for SW 542. Students who receive an Incomplete will be required to meet with the seminar instructor to develop a plan for successful completion of the seminar. The work to resolve the Incomplete must be completed satisfactorily before the start of the Spring semester.

Written Assignments

There are two written assignments for Field Seminar. Assignments are intended to enable students to integrate their academic and field experience and to demonstrate mastery of the competencies for the field practicum. Although students will need to gather information regarding assignments at field and in supervision, field agency time should not be used to write the assignments.

Written Assignment One (Due at your seminar the week of September 28)

Complete a written analysis of your field agency responding to the following questions:

- What is the mission and scope of service of your field agency? What services does your agency provide and who is eligible to receive services?
- Identify the agency's client population and referral sources, including cultural identities of clients,
- Describe the organizational structure. You may want to include an organizational chart.
- Describe your agency's relationship to the larger community and to the social service delivery system (other social service agencies with whom your agency collaborates, competes, and shares client populations).
- Identify your agency's primary sources of funding (e.g. government, grants, contracts, donations, fees for service, etc.).
- Is the agency a not-for-profit, for-profit, or public/government agency?

Note: Most students will complete this written assignment before beginning the agency experience. Students should schedule meetings with field instructors and/or other agency personnel to gather the information needed to complete the assignment. Although the agency website is an appropriate source of information, this assignment also requires the student to interview at least one agency staff person.

Written Assignment Two (Due at your seminar the week of November 16)

In consultation with your field instructor, identify an ethical problem or dilemma that occurs within the field agency setting. Then address the following issues in a 2-3 page paper.

- Describe the ethical problem or dilemma, referring to relevant section(s) of the NASW Code of Ethics. [Be sure to identify and reference the specific standard(s).]
- Select and apply a strategy for evaluating and resolving the problem or dilemma (e.g. Reamer's Ethics Decision Making Framework).
- Discuss your analysis with your field instructor at supervision and summarize the discussion.
- Identify and discuss your personal response to the ethical issue and whether it brought up any personal values, attitudes, and biases that might have influenced your evaluation of the issue.

Practice Interview

In addition to the written assignments, all students will be required to complete one practice interview with an adult client at Cornerstone of Recovery. The interviews will be videotaped and watched with a peer for review and feedback. The orientation to this process will be at Cornerstone of Recovery, 4726 Alcoa Hwy/129 South. Date and time TBA. All students are required to attend this orientation session in order to participate in the practice interviews.
